

AEC Succeeds in Setting Off Nuclear Device

By COLIN MCKINLAY

ATOP ANGELS' PEAK Nev. (UP) — Scientists won their battle against the weather and unexpected mechanical problems today by firing the 13th nuclear device of the 1957 test series from a plastic balloon 1,500 feet above the Nevada proving grounds.

The device, given the code name "Doppler," as set off by mechanical timer at 6:50 a.m. CST. It unleashed a loud "boom" and power equal to about 10,000 tons of TNT.

Thunderstorms and a leaky balloon had forced the postponement of the shot since Monday. But perfect weather conditions prevailed during the last 24 hours and the Atomic Energy Commission ordered the launching in the pre-dawn hours of its now "leak proof" balloon designed to carry "Doppler."

Eight experiments were recorded on the sequence time. About 30 military planes took part in support missions minutes after the familiar mushroom cloud resulting from the earth-quaking blast zoomed skyward.

An orange glow appeared for nearly 40 seconds following the blast. The mushroom cloud rose to 20,000 feet but its long fingered stem didn't reach the ground.

Some 500 troops witnessed the blast from trenches 3,500 yards from ground zero. The test was closed for observation by the press at 10:30 a.m.

No fires were started from the explosion. The flash was seen in Los Angeles and appeared as "bright white" in Salt Lake City. Early rangers in Las Vegas, Nev., and Reno, Nev. also got a good glimpse of the flash.

The AEC predicted that there would be "little or no" fallout from the shot. The drifting mushroom cloud seemed to partly disappear in a cloud formation.

Scientists breathed a sigh of relief with the detonation of the device. Two days ago the balloon developed a leak and its entire supply of helium escaped. The AEC fixed the leak but had to wait another 24 hours for another shipment of helium.

The device was designed by Los Alamos scientific laboratory. It was described as "average" of the devices detonated thus far.

Gigante Indicted in Costello Shooting

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent Gigante, 29, had been indicted as the man who tried to kill gambler Frank Costello.

Gigante is expected to plead innocent today in an arraignment in Federal Sessions Court.

A New York County grand jury took only one hour yesterday to hear testimony before indicting Gigante. Five witnesses including Costello and several detectives were heard.

If convicted on the indictment of attempted murder in the first degree, Gigante can be sentenced to 12½ to 25 years in prison.

The 37-year-old Costello would not disclose what he told the grand jury. His skull was nicked May 2 when a gunman shot at him as he entered the lobby of his Central Park West apartment building.

Body Found in Debris of Mine Shaft

TIMMINS, Ont. (AP) — Rescuers this morning uncovered the body of 15-year-old Ronnie Blakenmore from a mass of debris wedged part way down a 1,400-foot mine shaft.

The body was found about 10 feet below the level where 18-year-old Bonar Scholes was rescued last night. The boys fell into the shaft while dropping stones to hear the echoes. Three other teenagers scrambled to safety when timbers covering the hole collapsed.

The shaft, with 30 feet of water at its bottom, was blocked with earth, stones and rotted shoring from the 20-foot level for an unknown distance.

One of the dead boy's hands had been found.

Resistance to Integration Developing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — New resistance to racial integration of classes here was developing today as fall semester registration started at Little Rock's Central High and Hall High Schools.

A Little Rock woman announced last night that a League of Central High Mothers had been formed to resist the scheduled integration of grades 10 through 12 when school begins Sept. 3.

Mrs. O. R. Aaron said a "rally" would be held tonight at Little Rock by women of the group.

She declined to discuss plans of the new organization and also declined to give the number of members.

A suit pending in Pulaski Chancery Court asks that the Little Rock school be integrated.

Flier Wants to Create a Museum in the Sky

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Tallman is a young flier with a soaring ambition—he wants to create a museum in the sky.

If you have an abandoned elderly airplane in your backyard, call Tallman. Thousands today collect antique autos. Tallman is a pioneer in newer and limited field, the preservation of antique airplanes.

He is a leader in the small but growing number of enthusiasts who seek to salvage for posterity the remaining winged remnants of the early air age. But the airplanes he finds and rebuilds aren't destined for museums. He wants to put them back in the sky—at America's air shows—where they belong.

I don't think it's quite enough to see the color and beauty of the past, unless it's out in the sunshine working," he explained.

Flying long has been the main interest of Tallman. A slender 20-year-old man with a straw-colored mustache that makes him look like a British sergeant major, his father, a World War I naval pilot, let him take over the controls of a plane at 5.

Praise Dulles for Letting Newsmen Go Inside China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles won commendation in Congress today for his decision to permit 24 American newsmen to report from inside Red China.

Dulles action yesterday allowing these newsmen to be stationed there for a six-month trial basis pointed to an end of an eight-year blacklist on direct reporting by Americans from the China mainland.

Spokesmen for groups in the newspaper field said Dulles' move was a step in the right direction—but that it ought to go further.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called it "a long overdue but welcome retreat from an untenable position."

"If Red China will permit American newsmen to observe and report on happenings on the mainland, this could very well be the lifting of the Iron Curtain," Humphrey told newsmen.

"This could bring profound political repercussions. The next step might well be the release of American prisoners and a final settlement of the Korean War."

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, said in a separate interview it was "desirable to give the American people access to the news on the Chinese mainland without having to get it second hand, either through Red propaganda agencies or foreign news services of other countries."

Humphrey and some others criticized the limitation on the number of newsmen to be permitted to travel to Communist China.

Dulles designated 24 news organizations and authorized them to send one reporter apiece. He said these were the organizations which had replied affirmatively to a poll on the question of stationing a full-time American correspondent on the China mainland for six months or longer. Officials said fewer than 100 replies were received to Dulles' survey of selected news organizations.

The Associated Press assigned John Roderick, now stationed at Hong Kong to represent it in Communist China.

Tests Almost Complete in Hempstead

On May 1, work was started in Hempstead county to make it a Modified Certified Brucellosis Free Area which means that the people of the county will have free movement of cattle across state lines and into other Certified areas. At the end of the first test of all herds in the county the percentage of infected herds and infected cattle was to high for certification Under these circumstances it is necessary to retest the infected herds until the percentage certification requirements are met.

Dr. H. R. Shay, district supervisor, Animal Disease Eradication Division, USDA, advised Hempstead County.

For the past 4 weeks the testing of infected herds has been carried on. In some cases the owners of infected herds have requested postponement of tests to allow them to complete work with hay and watermelons. The time has now been reached for the owners of infected herds that have not been retested to give their full cooperation to the program, and the cattle owners of the county, by having their herds tested as soon as possible, Dr. Shay said.

This work is being done, where possible, at the general convenience of the owners, however, if continued postponement is requested it will become necessary to issue quarantine on untested herds. In these cases the herds will be tested at the owners expense under requirements of existing state laws, Dr. Shay advised.

We wish to continue this work with the best relationship between owners and testers, and therefore request the full cooperation of all the people in completing the tests of infected herds so that the county may gain certification status at the earliest possible date, Dr. Shay said.

Bale of Cotton in Columbia Co.

MAGNOLIA (UP) — Columbia county's first bale of 1957 cotton, brought here yesterday by a Scottsville community farmer, will be auctioned tomorrow on the Court-house lawn.

The cotton, gifted for K.W. Nesbit, good muddling 1 inch staple or better, came from the 2-acre Nesbit plantation near Scottsville.

Nesbit will be awarded a number of prizes from Magnolia merchants for the county's first bale of cotton.

Disarms Group Hopeful for Agreement

LONDON (UP) — The Big five disarmament conference here reconvened today, with the United States, Britain, Canada and France hoping against hope that some substantial agreement with Russia can be achieved.

The principal topic for discussion today was certain to be the U. S. proposal for a two-year moratorium on nuclear tests, which was publicly announced after the conference's last session.

The test-suspension proposal was the final detail of a Western "package" plan which will be submitted formally to the Russians in about two weeks. The 10-page statement of Western intentions is now being studied by America's Atlantic Pact allies.

The disarmament conference probably will adjourn next week until sometime in November, giving the Kremlin time to prepare a formal reply.

Youth Group Arrives in China Capital

TOKYO (UP) — Forty-one American students who attended the Moscow Youth Festival arrived in the Chinese Communist capital of Peking today, the Communist radio reported tonight.

The Americans were among 80 students from 13 countries, Radio Peking said in a Chinese language broadcast heard in Tokyo.

Other nations represented included Canada, Thailand, the Philippines, Syria, and West Germany, the radio said.

The American students defied a U. S. state department ban on travel behind the bamboo curtain to accept the bid for an expense free trip to Red China.

The students traveled overland from Moscow by rail.

The radio said that the Americans would tour the Chinese mainland "for a brief period."

The Americans were invited by the Chinese people youth league, the radio said.

The radio, however, gave no further information on where the American students were to visit or what they might be allowed to see.

Later, in an English Morse cast, the New China News Agency reported that the visiting students received "a rousing welcome at the railway station."

The English language report said other countries represented included India, Burma, Nepal, Ceylon, West Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

Withholding State Aid to Districts Assessing Below 18% Is Certain Next Aug. 1

Withholding of state aid to local taxing units which fail to bring their assessing level up to 18% of actual value is certain next August 1.

This was the message brought by Russell Morton, Little Rock, attorney for the Arkansas Assessment Co-ordination Department, to key officials at a meeting called in the Hempstead county courthouse Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Morton met with the following: County Judge U. G. Garrett; the members of the County Equalization Board, Carl Hinton of Palmox, Frank Trimble of McCall; County Tax Assessor, Garrett Willis; Superintendent, James H. Jones of the Hope public schools; Mrs. Frank King, Hope school board member and president of the Oglesby PTA; and A. H. Washburn, Star publisher, who had been invited to attend.

Mr. Morton pointed out that under Act 153 of 1955 the state is committed to a policy of withholding state aid to districts which fail to reach an 18% assessing level by August 1, 1958 — and eventually 20%.

Reports that some districts are counting on lenient treatment by the state when the August 1 deadline rolls around were answered this way by Mr. Morton:

"No leniency is possible. The terms of state aid were spelled out by Act 153 of 1955, and efforts to soften those terms in the 1957 session of the General Assembly were beaten down. The legislature doesn't meet between now and August 1, 1958 — and any emergency session would be most unlikely to upset Act 153, in view of the decisive action at the regular 1957 session. Therefore you may count on delinquent taxing units being penalized in state aid when we arrive at the August 1, 1958, deadline."

Mr. Morton said the state will run a series of 3% samples on the assessing level in various categories of property to determine how easily local taxing units can be convinced to raise their rates.

Taxing units, which are declared to be below the 18% level will then have until December 15, 1958, to produce evidence that the state's decision is in error, he concluded.

Following the conference with the state's attorney the local group decided to issue a call for a meeting of all taxing units in Hempstead county, at a date to be announced shortly.

Hoffa Admits He Would Look After Dio Family

From Our Wire Services
WASHINGTON — James R. Hoffa told Senate racketeers probes today he has agreed to "look out for" the family of racketeer Johnny Dio, if Dio goes to prison.

Hoffa said he agreed last month to help Mrs. Dio and her two children if she needs help.

Dio now is in Tomba Prison in New York, awaiting sentence on a shakedown conspiracy conviction. He is also under indictment in connection with the acid blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel, and faces charges of income tax violations.

If convicted on the income tax charges, the 43-year-old Dio could get a sentence up to 20 years.

Hoffa acknowledged yesterday that in 1953 he had had dealings with Dio about organizing New York taxi drivers. But he insisted he did not know then that Dio had a record of alleged anti-union shakedowns.

Under further questioning today, Hoffa said he still has a friendly relationship with the racketeer and told of the promise to look out for Mrs. Dio.

Still pleading a faulty memory, Hoffa repeatedly told the Senate Racketeers Investigating Committee he can't recall whether he had business dealings with Dio.

Fencing with committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy, he added: "I don't know what you mean by business."

Hoffa acknowledged that he did help to arrange two or three years ago for Dio to demonstrate to the Teamsters Union and some truck line operators in Chicago a two-way radio device.

Hoffa said Dio was then an official of the Link Radio Co. in New York, but said he wouldn't call that a business transaction.

Hoffa said he also has an option on some Florida real estate, known as Sun Valley, and that Dio bought lots there, but that he didn't consider that a business transaction, either.

It was the fourth day in the witness chair for Hoffa, Midwest head of the Teamsters Union, a 1½-million member organization, largest union in the nation.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Racketeers Committee recalled Teamster chief James R. Hoffa today to ask him if his 1953 friendship with New York mobster Johnny Dio blossomed into an underworld alliance.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy, summoning Hoffa to a fourth day in the witness chair, said he would explore the Teamster vice president's relations with Dio after mid-1953. He also planned to question him about setting up "phony" union locals in 1955 with Dio to rig a Teamster election in New York.

He indicated the committee would dig deeper into his file of wiretaps obtained legally in New York.

Bill Watson, Corn-Belt
Hatcheries Guest Speaker
At Rotary Club

Jesse Crow had charge of the program at the Rotary Club held at the Lawson Hotel, Tuesday and introduced Bill Watson of the Corn-Belt Hatcheries as speaker. Mr. Watson is a capable and interesting speaker and stressed the possibilities of the poultry industry in this section of the state. He stated that the territory around Prescott was the most ideal for this line of business as far as the poultry producer is concerned. He stated that the income from the marketing of eggs, broilers and grown birds in Hempstead County was more last year than the largest cotton crop that it had ever produced. The poultry production in this locality is in the beginning and should grow from year to year into a larger volume. Eggs and broilers are marketed as far away as Houston, Texas. His speech was received with great interest.

Arkansan to Play for Walker Cup

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — Lt. Hillman Robbins is rounding into form for the Aug. 30-31 Walker Cup matches at Minneapolis when he will join with other top U. S. amateur golfers in opposing a team of Britain's best.

The slender Memphis star, a lieutenant at the Blytheville, Ark., Air Force Base, held a one-stroke lead as the 20-man field began the third round of play in the annual inter-service championship here this afternoon.

Robbins posted a one-under par 71 for the third round yesterday to match his first days' total and bring his 36-hole tally to 142.

Robbins, last year's North and South Amateur champion, had lost his world-wide Air Force title in the tournament at Shaw Air Force Base, S. C., last week, but has demonstrated considerable improvement in his game through the first two rounds here.

Specialist 3rd Ray Moore of Ft. Bliss, Tex., first day leader with 69, fell off to 76 for 144. He was one stroke ahead of two of the South's top amateurs — Lt. Lester Kelly of Ft. Gordon, Ga., and Lt. Santa and Pvt. Mason Rudolph of Ft. Chaffee, Ark., and Clarksville, Tenn.

Eight players, five in the open class and three seniors 45 years and over are representing each of the four service branches in the 72-hole tournament which ends tomorrow.

Only one man at a time could go down to dig for the Blackhawk boy because of rotting supporting timbers. A companion helped put the earth into a container raised by a crane.

Both were protected from falling earth and rocks on their precarious perch by wooden head casings 8 by 14 feet at its open ends. The cribbing had been built during the night by miners with ropes around their waists.

Scholes was saved after workers lowered by rope used their bare hands to remove the muck that had buried him waist-deep. Dr. W. C. Bissonnette of Timmins was lowered into the shaft to give the youth a sedative and feed him intravenously.

"He behaved like an absolute Trojan," the doctor said. "He cooperated in every way when he was pulled up although he was only semiconscious and must have been suffering pain."

He was hospitalized.

York. "We hope his memory is improved," said Kennedy, referring to Hoffa's frequent lapses when quizzed Thursday on three recorded wiretap telephone conversations with Dio in 1953. Kennedy accused Hoffa of being "evasive" in his replies to his relationship with Dio, a convicted extortionist.

Kennedy said he hopes the committee can finish up with Hoffa and his current New York hearings before nightfall. But Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) has announced that Hoffa probably will be called for more testimony later.

Other committee sources have stated that Hoffa is to be recalled probably before he makes his bid to succeed Teamster President Dave Beck at the union's convention in late September.

In Thursday's session, McClellan said he had a report that former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis received $2,500 for sitting two hours in the courtroom during Hoffa's bribery conspiracy trial, presumably to influence the predominantly Negro jury.

But Louis, later contacted in Chicago denied it. He said "I never got no $2,500. I never got 25 cents."

The question came up when Hoffa was asked about union-paid hotel bills for persons who came to Washington for his trial. He was acquitted.

Arab Nations Warned Syria to Be Satellite

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American diplomats in the Middle East are trying to impress on Arab nations the danger of Syria becoming a Soviet satellite.

Officials said, without elaboration, there was evidence already that Syria's neighbors were gravely concerned.

These officials expected other Arab countries to counsel Syria's government against drifting any closer toward Kremlin domination.

U. S. officials were adding support, authorities said, in this counsel in talks with Arab diplomats in Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and even Egypt, which itself is closely involved with Moscow through heavy arms purchases.

Possible action by the Arab League was not ruled out Nor was it considered beyond possibility that Egypt's President Nasser might throw his weight into the breach opened by the Communists in the Arab position against Soviet influence from either East or West.

Nasser has ample opportunity to do this, it was noted. Syria's President Shukri al-Quwatli is an Egyptian cousin with Nasser and get medical attention.

CHAPTER XXXIV

I spurred the gelding. He jumped and scrambled down the slope and I still spurred him and I yelled any crazy thing that came to me, yelled at Blanchard, yelled at Dorsey, cursed out the Clements and Cole Jethro and those stubborn fools of buffaloes.

The gelding flew and I headed him straight for Dorsey. At the bottom of the slope, the thunder of the herd behind me came up strong. I heard it plain but I didn't think about it or worry.

I know it was a minute late for that. I reined straight for Dorsey, hard as the horse would go. Fifty yards away, I saw Blanchard get to Dorsey and throw himself off the horse. But his horse wouldn't stand and he had to grab for a line and I knew he needed me. No horse wanted to stand with that herd coming on through the dark dust.

I leaped down before the gelding stopped. I grabbed the line on Blanchard's horse.

"Got him!" I yelled. "Throw him up!"

Blanchard jumped to Dorsey. He lifted him like he was nothing and ran to his horse and threw him up behind the cattle.

Both horses danced and snorted, their eyes wide and white, and it was all I could do to hold them close. Dorsey was tied and Blanchard pulled a knife from his saddle to cut him loose. I looked west at the brown, swirling shape. So close, so terrible close. Blanchard saw it, too. He jumped into the saddle. I let his horse go and clambered up on the gelding.

"Head up, Pike!" he yelled.

Blanchard wheeled, holding Dorsey with one hand, raining with the other. His bay broke up slope, Blanchard spurring, and I sent the gelding right behind.

I heard the sharp clatter of the lead bulls' dew claws as they charged down on us. I heard the solid beat of them running.

But I didn't look. I could hear how close they'd got. It was enough to die under them without watching them come at you, a thousand ripping horns, enough weight to grind the prairie sod.

I felt the horse under me run fast but not fast enough. I saw Blanchard's back hunched over flanks ahead of me, bouncing.

My gelding veered and I nearly fell off.

Then Blanchard grabbed my gelding by the bridle and held him. I turned and saw the herd passing below, the closest animals 40 feet down the slope. Then the dust rolled up to us until we couldn't see the buffaloes but could smell and hear their going.

The noise dropped away but the smell stayed and then, slow, the dust lifted from us.

The herd was gone. I could hear the buffaloes beating through The Narrows.

And Blanchard was alive and so was I and I thought Pete Dorsey was. Being alive was a new feeling.

Blanchard was on the ground watching a bunch of riders by the river. They milled, waiting. Some talk floated up but not clear. I'd been fighting the buffaloes, not the Clements. A rider headed out from the bunch and rode easy toward us. I recognized Dan Clement.

Then like thunder he broke the growing quiet, yelling and spurring at us, waving a hand gun.

I crawled down fast and Blanchard handed me his reins. He stepped out from between the horses and walked 20 feet to the west. He got down on one knee and waited. Dan came roaring 50 feet away, leaning over the horse's neck, his gun sending fire through the night. Puffs of dust rose around Blanchard where he crouched, a gun in his right hand.

"Soot, Harney!" I screamed.

He did. Once and twice, he shot. Dan kept coming but he stopped shooting. His horse charged past Blanchard close and Dan slipped out of the saddle and rolled, then stopped, spraddled on the slope. Dan's horse went right on digging up the rise.

I heard a strange sound. It was Dorsey, moaning. I wondered if he'd been hit but I didn't have time to see because another rider broke out of the bunch and rode toward us. But this one didn't come fast and he didn't come far. He held up at the bottom of the slope and I saw the moon bounce off a rifle barrel.

I yelled. "He's got a rifle! Hold back!"

Blanchard was already moving down the slope, crouched as he ran. The rider below was on a gray horse, it looked like on Eric Clement rode. So Eric had let Dan come roaring up the slope to die but he wouldn't do it himself. I saw him lift the rifle and knew Blanchard was in bad trouble. Eric was too far for a hand gun but he had good range for his rifle. Blanchard would have to face half a dozen bullets before he got close enough to shoot.

There was nothing else to do, nothing but to pull my new Sharps from the seaboard. I let the reins drop and put the rifle up to my eye. I was shaking. I bit blood from my lips but I stopped the shaking. I squeezed against the trigger and the gun gave me a good jolt in the shoulder.

Eric's horse wheeled, with Eric slumped over the pommel, and ran toward the river. At the bank, the horse hauled up sharp. Eric

U. S. Wonders If Citizenship Is Renounced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wants to find out whether Martha Dodd Stern and her husband — both named as Russian spies — have renounced their American citizenship.

The couple recently obtained Paraguayan passports. They are now in Prague, capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, with their 12-year-old son.

A State Department spokesman was asked yesterday about reports the couple relinquished U. S. citizenship before leaving Mexico.

"We have no information on that," the spokesman said. "We are looking into it."

Mrs. Stern is the daughter of the late William E. Dodd, U. S. ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1938. Her husband is Alfred K. Stern, a former New York investment broker.

The House Committee on Un-fell off and rolled over the bank and was gone. Death was in the way he rolled. The first bullet I fired from my new rifle had killed a man and it would never be just a rifle again.

Bondholders Are Spurning Money

FOREST CITY, N. H. — Money Most industrial bondholders here are spurning the stuff.

Brice Fletcher, president of Forest City Industries, Inc., said yesterday he has been notifying bondholders for the past three American activities said last Saturday the two were named as Soviet agents in testimony by Boris Morros, a counterespionage for the FBI.

Before leaving Mexico, the Sterns had faced possible extradition to New York to testify at a federal grand jury investigation into espionage.

Yesterday, a spokesman for the U. S. Embassy at Prague said the Sterns arrived there July 1, and that Stern said they were tourists not fugitives. The embassy spokesman said Stern described the spy charges as fantastic.

The State Department says the couple applied for, but did not receive, U. S. passports in Moscow last year. Officials said the Sterns did not respond to a request to sign a non-Communist affidavit.

Tanker Sinking But Nobody Lost

LONDON (AP) — The 25,000-ton Libanian tanker World Splendor was sinking in the Mediterranean today but all survivors had been picked up, the ship's agents in London reported.

The ship, owned by the Niarchos group, was crippled by two explosions 60 miles east of Gibraltar yesterday. She was on her way from Southampton, England, to the Persian Gulf.

The agents said a British admiralty tug had picked up the survivors, but they could not give a casualty figures, reports from Gibraltar yesterday said 32 injured men had arrived there.

In Arizona, 90 per cent of the land is used to graze the 881,000 cattle population.

Years that interest from the bonds is waiting for them at a bank here.

Fletcher said not only have bondholders failed to collect the interest, but they also have ignored the 11 per cent payoff on their original investment.

Magazines were disclosed yesterday prior to the adjournment of the trial until tomorrow. The defense maintained that affidavits were obtained to substantiate stories on such film celebrities as Clark Gable, Maureen O'Hara, John Carroll and producer Paul Gregory.

Fred Meade, operator with his wife of a Hollywood "listening post" for confidential, was the defense counsel's "bombshell" witness of the day. Meade told of persons who tipped him off on prospective stories about the off-screen life of movie stars.

Miss West was introduced into testimony when Meade was asked about the Confidential story titled, "Mae West's open-door policy." The story claimed Miss West wasn't kidding when she said "come in and see me sometime" and alleged that her chauffeur took her up on the offer.

Meade testified that Miss West had an "affinity" for prize fighters and often hired them as chauffeurs. The defense witness, also a defendant in the trial, said he obtained a letter signed by a "Dale Wright" and an affidavit from one-time featherweight Champion Al-bert (Chalky) Wright to authenticate that Miss West allegedly had other than business relations with her Negro chauffeur identified only as Jones.

The defense prior to the start of the trial three weeks ago indicated it hoped to prove that "Jones" actually was Wright, Wright slipped and drowned in a bathtub last week but his affidavit was introduced into evidence.

The affidavit brought out that Wright worked at one time for Miss West but received instead of a salary "$100 to $200 a week in tips." The tips kept coming in for a year and a half, according to the document.

The letter from the "Dale Wright," who was not identified, said in part:

"Some years ago — perhaps 15 — Mae West had a Negro chauffeur named something or other Jones. The driver-employer relationship soon developed into something a little more intimate, however, and rumor had it that Jones became her lover."

Bandleader Daniel Terry was identified by Meade as the scandal scout who obtained most of the material for the story titled, "only the birds and the bees saw what Dorothy Dandridge did in the woods."

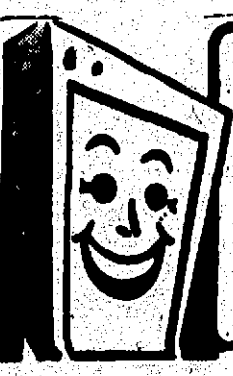

Meade testified that Terry and the sultry singer dated while both were appearing at a nightclub in the mountain resort town of Tahoe Village, Nev. The story alleged that the Negro singer and "a male companion" spent intimate moments together in the woods surrounding the lake.

The defense claimed that an affidavit signed by "one of the principals," Terry, was obtained before the story of the May, 1957 issue of Confidential. Meade said Terry also produced photographs taken of the bandleader and Miss Dandridge taken at the resort city.

Meade admitted that he and his wife, Marjorie, niece of Confidential publisher Robert Harrison, received "tips" and then gathered material for some stories. He said Harrison donated $5,000 to set up Hollywood Research, Inc., the "Listening Post" for Confidential.

It was revealed in testimony that the Fred Otash Detective agency received $35,000 in less than two years for "checking out" alleged

Monumental Problems Mar Proposed Union

Dear Dorothy Dix: Greg and I are really in love and plan to marry soon. The only problem is one of nationality. He's Polish; I'm French. Many people say it wouldn't work out, but I don't see why it can't. We're old enough to know our own minds (29 and 18). Also, do you have any material on inter-faith marriages? Our religions are different.

ROBIN

Dear Robin: You stress the least important detail, then slide gracefully over the two factors that could be monumental differences in age and creed. An 11-year disparity in years is enough to make you think twice; the religious angle needs thorough thinking and discussion. I do have a leaflet that will help, "When Religions Differ." You may have a copy of it by sending me a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several

off-camera boudoir activities of movie stars.

Meade disclosed that the information for two Confidential stories involving movie hero Clark Gable and his first wife and Birdy Baer was supplied by the principals themselves. He said Gable's first wife, drama coach Josephine Dillon, sent a letter to Harrison in New York offering to give him the story.

"I interviewed her (Miss Dillon) and got an affidavit," Meade testified. "She even asked me if her byline couldn't be on the story."

Meade said Baer on his attorney also approached Harrison. He said, "Baer offered to give his side of an unpleasant incident."

When he calls the next day, he says he forgot. What's the matter with him?

Dear H. A.: Probably his cruel parents use the phone at night and he doesn't want to admit he's not the boss! Discount the promises and be happy with 'your' afternoon call.

Patterson Gets to Rademacher in 6th Round

By JACK HEWINS
SATTLE M — Floyd Patterson, the cool destroyer who holds the world heavyweight championship, cut down powerful Rademacher last night and turned to dust the big guy's dream of stepping from the amateur peak to the pinnacle of the pros.

Giving away 15 pounds — the champion weighed 187 to Rademacher's 202 — Floyd decked the courageous challenger seven times before Pete took the full count at 2:57 of the sixth round.

But, to the consternation, of thousands who regarded this as a mismatch, Patterson was the first man to hit the canvas. Midway in the second round Rademacher crossed a right to the champion's jaw. Floyd seemed to slip as he sagged, but he went all the way down and the knockdown counter at ringside had reached the tally of four when he got back up.

Referee Tommy Loughran waved off the count, ruling it a knockdown but later in his dressing room Floyd said he was bowed over by the punch.

The professional began to show his superiority over the Olympic Hillbilly in the third round, leaping from a crouch to spear Rademacher with a straight right that sent the big guy sprawling.

He took a nine count and was back on his feet at the bell, but the crowd of 16,961 had its tipoff on the outcome.

It was delayed in Round 4 while Floyd moved easily around big Pete, stalking him and looking for an opening for a payoff punch. He found to range in the fifth.

Four times Patterson blasted him down in that round, and four times the farm boy from Grandview, Wash., struggled up at the count of nine and tried valiantly to match blows.

Loughran went to Rademacher's corner after the bell to ask Pete if he was all right and got a smiling nod. But Pete appeared tired and hurt, and the few blows he landed in the sixth knock him down.

He clinched, and as Loughran moved in to separate them, Patterson poured home a left and then a right. It was the next-to-last knockdown.

Patterson threw a left and this time as Rademacher struggled wearily to his feet the referee waved Patterson away. Most ringsiders thought Loughran was stopping the fight, but the referee said the count had reached 10 and it was a knockout.

After the battle Rademacher offered no alibis and Patterson was high in his praise for the champion, who had dreamed up this fight and made it real. Rademacher is the first man ever to step from the amateur ranks directly into a heavyweight championship fight.

"He has all the qualifications of a future great fighter," Floyd said.

"When somebody is chopping at you with an ax you have to go down eventually," grinned Rade-macher holding a chunk of ice to a slightly puffed eye. Asked if he felt fighting for nothing was worth the effort, he said: "Very definitely."

The bout drew a gross gate of $243,000 — far short of the anticipated full-house $400,000. Rademacher's backers — a group of Georgia businessmen — put up Patterson's guarantee of $250,000 and took both fighters' share of the gate — $80 per cent of the $209,586 net or just under $125,500.

Patterson said this would be his last fight in 1957. Asked if he would fight again now that he has become a professional, Rademacher said that was something he would decide later.

"He is," said Loughran of Rademacher, "the most courageous fighter I have ever seen."

Loughran, who was sole judge, scored the first two rounds for Rademacher and gave the rest to Floyd. The Associated Press card agreed, except for calling the first round even.

Robinson, Basilio Fight May Go On

NEW YORK — The on-again, off-again middleweight championship fight between Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio may be staged as scheduled at Yankee Stadium Sept. 23.

Robinson called off his little defense against welterweight king Basilio Tuesday night because of a dispute with promoter Jim Norris over theater television.

However, Robinson now feels he might be able to settle his differences with Norris at a New York State Athletic Commission hearing next Monday.

"I think I can go back into training and be ready for Sept. 23 if we work this out Monday," Sugar Ray said.

Invited to attend.

Kiwanis Issues Challenge for a 2nd Game

Still smarting from a 16 to 12 defeat from the powerful bats of the Hope Lions Club, the Hope Kiwanis Club has scheduled a return game Thursday night, August 29 at K-park. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Proceeds will again go toward the Hope Youth Center building which is now in the planning stage and which will be erected in the Hope Fair Park in the very near future. Actually, as soon as enough money is raised to make a down payment on the material, construction will begin.

The game Thursday night will be a grudge affair with the Kiwanians hoping to even the count. However, the Lions are revamping their line-up and will field every available player of the club.

The young people of Hope will be selling tickets to the game and everyone is urged to buy one and come out and enjoy the fun.

The Kiwanis line-up is as follows:
Mike Kelly catcher; Eddie Whitman pitcher; Harry Hawthorne first base; Dan Hamilton second base; Jimmie Cook third base; Norman Moore short stop; Jim LaGrossa roving short stop; E. P.
Young Jr. left field; Doc Seaman center field; Andy Caldwell right field and Kiwanis president W. S.
Draper pinch hitter. This is the starting line-up and other Kiwanians will see action.

Lions Club starting line-up: A.
J. Rhodes catcher; Cecil Delaney pitcher; Earl Lee Archer Jr., first base; Barry Brown second base;
Charles Gough third base; Willie McCorle short stop; Joe Hankins roving short stop; Jamie Russell left field; Wilton Garrett right field; W. H. Gunter Jr. center field and Lion president Cline Frank pinch hitter.

Remember, your paid admission to this game will go for the youth of our community. . . have fun with us and support a worthy cause.

Logart, Byars
Battle Tonight

DETROIT (UP) — A pair of ranging welterweights, Isaac Logart and Walter Byars, who have only the best of hopes for welter champion Basilio, will meet tonight in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

Logart and Byars won't have any special fondness for Basilio, but if Basilio could win the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson Sept. 23, then tonight's winner might get a chance at the welter title.

Logart, with a 49-7-5 record, has experience and a better knockout record. But Byars has upset such men as Kid Gavilan and Al (Sugar) Hart.

U. S. Has Hopes for Davis Cup

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UP) — American hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup get a preliminary test today when Uncle Sam's leading team of Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson meet a pair of young Ausies in a quarter-final match in the National Doubles championships.

The third-seeded Seixas and Richardson were scheduled to play Mal Anderson and Bob Howe in one of the two quarter-final matches in the lower half of the draw at the Longwood Cricket club. The Aussies are unseeded here but are also regarded as being underrated.

An American-Australian semi-final was set up in the upper half of the men's draw yesterday when first-seeded Gardner Mulloy and Budget Patty advanced along with Australians Roy Emerson and Bob Mark.

Burette, who hadn't beaten the Dodgers at Ebbets Field since Aug. 5, 1955, did it last night behind an 11-hit attack that included homers by Hank Aaron and Red Schoendienst. It was Lew's fourth victory in his last five decisions and his 12th triumph of the year.

Joe Cunningham's two doubles, a homer by Ken Boyer and a triple by Al Dark sparked an early Cardinal attack that routed the 16-game winner Jack Sanford. Billy Muffett gained credit for his second win when he shut out the Phillies for the last four innings after they knocked out Larry Jackson.

Bob Fiehr scattered nine hits as the Pirates extended the Reileg's losing skid to the longest of the N. L. season. Gene Freese and Frank Thomas had three hits each for the Pirates and Dick Groat had a triple.

Willie Mays boosted his average to .332 with his 28th homer and two doubles to lead a 10-hit Giant attack that handed strickout whiz Dick Drott his 10th loss. Roy Crone won his sixth game as the Giants although he needed help from Jim Constable and Marv Grissom.

Harry Simpson's grand slam homer was the big blow as the Yankees whipped the Athletics for the 17th time in 20 meetings. Jerry Lumpe also had three hits to help Johnny Kucks win his eighth game. Wally Burnette suffered his ninth defeat compared to six victories.

Ted Williams snapped out of his two-day slump to go 2-for-4 and raise his average to .386 in the Red Sox' rout of the Indians.

Frank Lary pitched his second straight four-hitter and Harvey Kuenn, Roy Boone and Al Kalina had two hits each for the Tigers.
Billy O'Dell was charged with his seventh loss in nine decisions for Baltimore.

What a wonderful word is life! More abundant do we want it ever to prove. As we begin to walk a little more slowly up the street the buoyancy of young life impresses us more. The years of maturity, when mental tides are running strong, delivers us at the crossroads where we find ourselves peering anxiously through the Gateway to Life. We are more serious then. The Gateway to Life is the Gateway to God. It becomes more important then to give more attention to our reading and thinking habits. Our interests in life are more glorious... we are less selfish. We are more interested in the Life Beyond... more interested in our fellow man.

We view through the Gateway to Life something even more fine than either the physical or mental. It is life of the spirit, the part that goes on forever. The Gateway to Life will be found by some as they prepare to leave this body for a home in Heaven. Saint John sets before us the Eternal Life which a man begins to experience today. We know that we have passed from death to life because we love the brethren... we love people. Today will be for each of us The Gateway to Life if we will throw away hatred, malice and greed and join God in practicing love. The church points the way to a fuller and more abundant life... the Eternal Life.

Milk Strike Is Settled Peaceably

NEW YORK (AP) — A Teamsters strike that threatened to cut off milk supplies for 12 million consumers in the metropolitan area was settled today.

Representatives of Local 770 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the Dairy Transport Assn., reached agreement after a five-hour conference.

Monday night 950 drivers who transport raw milk from upstate dairy farms to the metropolitan area walked out in a contract dispute with the association. The association represents 25 milk-hauling concerns.

No general shortage of milk developed before the strike ended. The new contract provides a 70-cent-an-hour wage increase over a three-year period, with 40 cents the first year, and 15 cents in each of the next two years.

Prestrike wages ranged from $1.67 to $2.07 an hour. The agreement also provides a pension program, increased vacation and holiday time, and other fringe benefits.

After the agreement was announced, a spokesman for the employers said the milk trucks would start rolling immediately.

The union had asked for an 80-cent hourly boost and other benefits over a three-year period. The employers originally offered 50 cents over four years.

The local that went on strike represents all but 200 of the 1,150 drivers who haul milk to the metropolitan area. The 200, who belong to teamster locals in Brooklyn, Scranton, Pa., and Utica, N. Y., stayed on the job.

Urges Negroes to Obey Court Order

TUSKEGEE, Ala., (AP) — Dr. G. G. Gilliam, president of the Tuskegee Civic Assn., last night urged its members to obey a court order enjoining the TCA to halt a Negro boycott of white merchants here.

He read excerpts from the petition for the court decree filed by Atty. Gen. John Patterson, which said that boycotting Negroes were "causing permanent and irreparable damage to white business" and "trying to destroy the economy of an entire city."

Gilliam said he did not believe any responsible member of the TCA, a Negro organization, was involved in the reported ultimatum of Negroes who traded with white merchants.

Cooperation Aim of Meet in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Inter-American Economic Conference moved today into the solid work of arguing concrete proposals for hemisphere cooperation.

But, a week after the meeting opened, hopes that it would result in some resounding success were all but dashed.

Half a dozen of the 20 chief delegates had left or were preparing to leave Buenos Aires. They will be replaced by alternate delegates as working committees take over to debate some 30 bills presented by last midnight.

The first top delegate to leave was U. S. Treasury Secretary Robert H. Anderson. His departure yesterday was a day earlier than scheduled and brought from Argentine newspapers such comment as "astonishing." But the conference chairman, Argentine Finance Minister Adalberto Riquelme, told reporters it had been known in advance that some delegation chiefs were leaving after only a short stay.

Most of the sessions thus far have been devoted to meetings which served mainly as sounding boards for speeches by delegation heads. Most of the speakers criticized U. S. economic policy in Latin America.

Two Found Dead in Old Icebox

MIDLAND, Tex., (AP) — Two young girls were found dead in an abandoned ice box last night, hours after they disappeared while playing.
